Agricultural Policy Forum and Annual Meeting of Ministers of Agriculture from South-Eastern Europe in Bosnia and Herzegovina, 7th – 10th, October 2009

BACKGROUND:

South - Eastern European (SEE) Countries are moving constantly towards European integration and the EU accession. The main pre-condition for full EU-membership is the fulfillment of the Copenhagen criteria. The second important pre-condition, is extensive regional co-operation on all possible levels such as constant political and policy dialogue, development of regional trade, free movement of people and sharing common ideas for future development.

Agriculture and rural areas in South Eastern Europe play significant role in the overall development of the national economies. Development of rural areas in accordance with the EU-guidelines and policies is therefore a major challenge for the EU member countries, candidate countries as well as for the potential candidate countries. Agriculture and rural development strategies, legislation and programming documents have been developed in many countries of the region in the recent years, while in some countries it is still an on-going process. The implementation of respective policy measures and instruments has started or is foreseen to start.

To foster these processes, the Agricultural Policy Forum has been institutionalized as a platform for dialogue and mutual learning.

Starting with the first Agricultural Policy Forum in November 2001, a series of events have been organized. Apart from the two events in Leipzig, and one in Dresden, Germany, and the meetings held in Romania, Albania, Macedonia/Serbia, Bulgaria and Montenegro. Concurrent theme of all events was the agricultural and rural transition process in SEE countries.
